HIGHLY IMPORTANT NOTICE

Subject: Formal Complaint — Alleged Unlawful Conduct by Australian Electoral Commissioner

Dear Sir/Madam,

I, Rodney Norman Culleton, Former Federal Senator (in exile) make this complaint to formally request investigation into serious concerns affecting the legality of the 2025 federal election.

Summary: Since the passing of Queen Elizabeth II, no new law has been passed by the Australian Parliament to recognize King Charles III as King of Australia. No Royal Proclamation has been lawfully issued under an Act of Parliament to confirm the new sovereign's title.

Despite this, election writs — which must lawfully come from the Crown's authority — have been issued for the 2025 election. This action, carried out by or under the supervision of the Australian Electoral Commissioner, raises grave constitutional and legal issues.

Key Points:

- Australia's Crown is now legally separate from the United Kingdom's Crown.
- The Royal Style and Titles Act 1973 (Cth) refers only to Queen Elizabeth II.
- No new Act of Parliament has been passed to give lawful license for a new Royal Proclamation or the valid issue of writs under King Charles III.
- Canada, by contrast, passed legislation in 2023 to formally recognize King Charles III's title before continuing key government functions like elections.

Without updated law, the authority for the election writs is legally questionable.

Request for Investigation: I ask that the Australian Federal Police urgently investigate whether:

- The Australian Electoral Commissioner has acted unlawfully or in breach of constitutional duties;
- The Commissioner may have committed offences under the Criminal Code, including misfeasance in public office;
- The 2025 federal election is proceeding under invalid or defective legal authority.

Formal Notice: This letter also puts the Australian Electoral Commissioner on notice: Proceeding without lawful validation of the sovereign's authority endangers the integrity of the election, the constitutional order of the Commonwealth, and may constitute serious criminal conduct.

I reserve my full legal rights in relation to this matter and stand ready to provide further evidence if required.

Respectfully,

Rodney Norman Culleton

Good afternoon Team, s 22(1)(a)(ii)

On Monday 28 April 2025, Mr CULLETON emailed LSC s 47E(c) (case officer of 7090752) directly making a complaint a validity of the 2025 federal election and questioning the appointment of King Charles III as the King of Australia. LSCs 47E(c) replied with the link to the AFP 'Report a Crime' page, stating it is the most appropriate way to make complaints to the A than contacting him directly. Mr CULLETON uploaded a copy of his email on his Great Australia Party Facebook site requ followers to copy and paste the text in an email to LSC s 47E(c) and members of the AG's dept. and AEC - see below.
